REPORT

Background

George Calvert built this one-storey Regency-style stone house in 1846 for his wife, Mary Calvert, nee McCater Black. It is one of the few remaining original stone settlement houses in Nassageweya and continues to remind us of the settlement history of this historic Township.

Discussion

Historically, Thomas Bull received the Easterly half of the property from the Crown on July 1, 1825. It was sold to George Calvert (born 1778) on May 31, 1839, who then sold it to John Gilles in 1841. John sold it back to Mary Calvert, who built the house with the help of George in 1846. Mary Calvert, nee McCarter Black, was the third of four wives of George. George Calvert was born 1778 and died in 1857. He enlisted in the 5th Regiment Gore Militia (Sep 11, 1826) and the 2nd Regiment Gore Militia Roll (1828-1829). The "Regiment Gore Militia" refers to a historical militia unit from the Gore District in Upper Canada (now part of Ontario, Canada). The Regiment was primarily active during the 1830s, most notably during the Upper Canada Rebellion of 1837, where they were called upon to suppress rebellions in the region.

George died in 1857 and Mary sold the property to John McLean in 1858. John, a pioneering farmer, was nicknamed 'Sugar Johnny' because he owned a large sugar bush. He was born in Scotland in 1815. His wife, Rhoda, was born in New Brunswick in 1824. John and Rhoda also lived at Puslinch in Wellington County for a while before leaving for Manitoba. John sold the property to Duncan Morrison in 1862, whose name appeared in the 1877 Halton Atlas. Duncan sold the property to Hugh Evelegh in 1889. Other owners were Daniel Jones (1890), Burdge Butts (1914), Robert Marshall family (1918), and Donald McKersie (1947). Donald or Don ran a large farm, and his wife Jean taught piano lessons in the surrounding area of Moffat and Puslinch.

In 1947, Wilson Jacob and Leona Mae Snyder bought the property from the McKersies. Wilson Snyder worked the afternoon shift at the Ford plant in Oakville and farmed in the morning. When he retired, he sold the farm and moved to Ethel in northern Huron County.

Discussion

Subsequent owners were John Huempfner (1973), Nicholas and Louise Kot (1975), and Robert and Mona Stupart (1987). The present owners are Thomas and Jessie Herdes.

Physically, this Regency-style stone house has a medium hip roof, protruding eaves and a plain soffit. The west elevation has a balanced, three-bay front faced with stone cut to courses and random parged course fieldstone on the other elevations. The central entrance has four stone steps and a landing with steel railings. The single-leaf, six-panel front door has moulded trims, pediment surrounds, side lite and multi-pane transoms. The one-over-one windows have plain trims, stone lug sills and lintels. An inscription on the date stone above the front door reads "G.M.C 1846 B.J.F."

Contextually, this house is one of the few remaining original stone settlement houses in Nassageweya and continues to remind us of the settlement history of this historic Township.

Character Defining Elements/Heritage Attributes

Key attributes that reflect the cultural heritage value of the property include:

- One-storey Regency Style stone farmhouse with low hip roof, protruding eaves and plain fascia.
- Regular course cut stone at west elevation and random course parged fieldstone at side elevations.

- One-over-one windows with shutters, plain mouldings, stone lintels and lug sills
- Six panels front door with moulded trims, pediment surrounds, side lite and multi-pane transoms

Cultural Heritage Value or Interest Evaluation

Ontario Regulation 9/06 of the Ontario Heritage Act establishes the criteria for determining Cultural Heritage Value of Heritage Resources. These criteria fall into three categories: design or physical value, historical or associative value and contextual value. The following table considers and evaluates the subject property against these criteria.

The property has design value or physical value because it, has been dead some years and his sons, William and Joseph, occupy the land. His eldest son, George, had been occupying the west-half of Lot 24, in the 5th Concession; he died last spring, his family are still there.

John Colquhoun, commonly pronounced Cohoun, came from Argyleshire, Scotland, in 1821, went first to Niagara, stopped there some time, then came back to Wellington Square and worked there some years. He took up Lot 27, in the 4th Concession, sometime about 1835, and spent the remainder of his life there. He died in 1887, aged ninety-four years. Him and his wife had been living together over sixty-six years; the old lady is still living on the farm in her ninety-fifth year, her health is good, she is blind, and very deaf, otherwise her faculties are unimpaired. I had the pleasure of visiting them on the sixty-six anniversary of their wedding and thought I was highly privileged.

Donald McIntyre appears to have come on to Lot 24, in the east-half of the 6th Concession, in 1831. I know but little about the man. It is said that his wife carried a basket of eggs (twenty-five dozen) to Wellington Square on her arm, took her pay in store goods, then walked back home without stopping for rest. This would be over twenty miles. Thomas Easterbrook bought the farm from the McIntyre family and sold it to James Campbell, he sold to Whitley, who still owns it. David Cargil and Benjamin Kean appear on the assessment roll for 1830 for the first time. Cargil has one acre cleared and Kean has two. Edward and George Calvert about the same time on Lots 19 and 20, in the 1st Concession. George Calvert sold many years ago to John McLean, he to Duncan Morrison, Morrison's executors to Hugh Eveleigh, who still owns it. Edward Calvert's son still owns part of his father's farm. Thomas Locker, grandfather of the present Thomas Locker, was a very early settler here on Lot 31, in the 2nd Concession, he spent his days on the place. It has changed hands several times and is now in the market. His son John settled on the east-half of Lot 25, in the 3rd Concession, a few years after and his son Thomas is still there. Jeremiah Hirst, Lot 8, in the 2nd Concession, was a British soldier in the Duke of Wellington's time, and came here about 1833.

The names of the parties below appear on the assessment rolls for the first time as follows:—In 1830—Andrew Beaty, Lot 13, in the 2nd Concession; Anthony Ribble, Lot 14, in the 2nd Concession; George Curry, Lot 11, in the 4th Concession; Abraham Wallace, Lot 11, in the 4th Concession; Patrick Marshall, Lot 7, in the 4th Concession; Philip Kribbs, Lot 32, in the 6th Concession; George Black, Lot 21, in the 5th Concession; E. Blanchard, Lot 26, in the 5th Concession. In 1831—Andrew Murray, west-half of Lot 1, in the 6th Concession; Alexander Robertson, east-half Lot 1, in the 7th Concession; David Taggart, Lot 14, in the 3rd Concession; James Eakins Lot 16, in the 5th Concession; James Davidson, east-half of Lot 14, in the 2nd Concession, and east-half of Lot 11, in the 2nd Concession; Dugald Leitch, east-half of Lot 25, in the 7th Concession; William Weir, east-half of Lot 12, in the 3rd Concession; George Henry, west-quarter of Lot 10, in the 4th Concession; John Ingle, west-half of Lot 31, in the 4th Concession. In 1832—John Sprall, Lot 3, in the 6th Concession; William Proctor, east-half of Lot 4, in the 7th Concession; George Fonger, east-half of Lot 26, in the 7th Concession; Archibald Leitch, Lot 27, in the 6th Concession; John Ritchie, east-half
